

Following the midweek thrash skipper shuffled his pack which meant Spindles was unceremoniously dropped and reduced to tea boy!

On a good looking pitch a new opening pair was sent forth, namely the McKenzie boys. Sound defence was being mixed with audacious running as the score board ticked over, with the pair even managing to run a three. Having assessed the conditions they both began to let loose as the boundaries now flowed. George reached his 50 first to be followed soon after by Dangerous. It was a surprise when the first wicket fell as George departed with the score on 85.

Doughnut was soon on fire as three of his first six balls were hit for four. The run rate was getting better as the ball departed to all parts. Such was the dominance that the only use for the rest of the team was in looking for a succession of lost balls. It was with genuine surprise when Doughnut was next out in the 60's with the pair narrowly missing out on a new second wicket record.

Dangerous eventually went for a superb 141. Trub gave us a brief cameo with three massive sixes. Bear claimed one boundary though this owed more to the fielder kicking it over the rope as to the shot. Liam was last in and was met with derision when seen blocking the final ball, though with over three hundred on the board eyes had turned to red ink.

Sweet opened this week with Trub and despite some reasonable bowling not much was happening. The batsmen took advantage of the fast outfield and some reasonable ground fielding kept matters in check chasing an imposing 316.

The bowling rotated as the runs stacked up with little sign of wickets. Eventually as the batsmen became more adventurous chances started to flow yet sadly it appeared like everyone had forgotten how to catch as four were put down. With the total just shy of 200 one was at last held as Parf was swept to fine leg. The run rate was now around 10 and Doughnut picked up an Lbw. A third wicket held expertly by Bear in the deep finally sealed affairs as the oppo ended 45 short.

An excellent game only tarnished by the failure to stock up on supplies, with Skipper literally wondering where his next beer was coming from !
